

The Light of the Gospel Reaches Young Muslims

By Victor and Lisa Atallah

Left: Arabic broadcasts reach crowded Cairo and other cities.

church life and outreach activities. Christians have become more unified and more actively prayerful in the face of declining security and an uncertain future.

Troubles simmer elsewhere. In Iraq, a predominantly pro-Iranian Shiite government controls the country. Violent rivalry between Sunni and Shiite radicals continues the bloodshed and suffering that began with the Iraq war more than ten years ago.

Iraqi churches continue to be attacked and the number of remaining Iraqi Christians dwindles, but they keep shining the light of the Gospel. MERF enables Arab churches in Iraq and Palestine to maintain an active ministry of the Word and to provide for the needy in their communities.

In Syria, the secularist regime which advocates freedom of religion is under attack. Fanatical Sunni Islamists have been trying to take over. If they succeed, the consequences will be immense for Christians in

About a year ago the “Arabic Spring” began! Popular uprisings of young people in Arab countries have, thus far, brought down three longstanding regimes ruled by elderly men. Internet and cell phone communication played a major role in building momentum to enable young people to dislodge regimes in Tunisia and Egypt.

The conflict in Libya has been tribal, with the winning side supported by Western powers. The worst bloodshed occurred there, where violent clashes between rival groups continue. In Libya, the two recognized evangelical/reformed churches were closed down, and contact has been lost with almost all Libyan believers. In Tunisia, the new authorities promised a strong clamp down on missionary activities.

Impact on Christians

Ironically, the new regimes seem to be moving to impose stricter Islamic rules on society—not the longings of most of the protesting youth. Some radical Islamists have even dared to claim majority support.

It is too early to guess how far the Islamists will succeed in gaining power and imposing Islamic Sharia laws on these and other Arab countries. Yet already there are major implications for moderates and religious minorities. Two Islamic groups together took a strong majority in the Egyptian parliamentary elections. How this will impact the large Egyptian Christian minority is still unclear.

Active Prayer

The mobilizing of youth and rising insecurity has affected the church in Egypt, however, in some positive ways. Young people have been emboldened to take more initiative to be involved in

For it is the God who commanded light to shine out of darkness, who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.
—2 Corinthians 4:6

◆ Despite insecurity in South Sudan, a new 5-month Biblical Training Course for South Sudanese and other East African Christian workers began last month just south of the border in Lokichoggio, Kenya. Praise God for Jim Smith from London, who taught the opening English classes.

Pray for February Guest Instructors. Ian and Helen Maclean from Northern Ireland are teaching introductory Bible Survey and English. Ewoud and Willy Gosker from the Netherlands will teach Genesis, portions of Isaiah, Psalms and Proverbs, and John's Gospel, plus English.

Praise God for students from many different tribes. Please pray for their time of study and for their families in their absence.

Top: Feghali of Lebanon helps train young Iranians for Farsi broadcast and internet outreach; Below: The Holy Spirit, Our Helper—New Arabic Sunday School teacher's guide.

Syria, Lebanon, and other neighboring countries such as Jordan. They too are driven to prayer in the face of an uncertain future.

Young Muslims Seek Christ

Please pray especially for the broadcast ministry teams in Cairo, Beirut, and Khartoum. Pray also for those expressing interest in Christ and new believers, as well as those providing spiritual nourishment to them. We can give thanks that except for a few days of security concerns, the team in Cairo has continued to do production work. On those few days, the team in Beirut made up for the shortage.

Even more encouraging is the flow of new SMS text and email messages and the large numbers young Muslims visiting the Arabic ministry website. Here are two heartwarming responses to the broadcasts.

E.M., high school teacher from Yemen, wrote:

"Finally, through your help, I am able to have spiritual meetings with two other believers; one has been a disciple for at least three years..."

M. M., a university student from Egypt, wrote:

"I have been struggling about my own existence for many months...I have even thought of suicide...You are truly God's good messengers..."

We praise God for all who pray for and support this and other MERF ministries in Arab and Muslim lands.

Other MERF News

◆ The historic Heidelberg Catechism has been published in both Amharic and Arabic.

◆ The eighth series of the Arabic Sunday school curriculum structured on the simplified Westminster Catechism is now published, "The Holy Spirit, Our Helper"

◆ Work on the 5-floor training and broadcast center in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia is nearing completion. It will house broadcast production of Amharic, Oromo, and Somali language programs and lodge 70 students for biblical training. Also, a small clinic will provide outpatient medical care in Christ's name for the many poor in the neighborhood.

◆ A young team of Iranian converts has begun preparing Farsi broadcasts and a new Farsi website aimed at reaching youth and educated people.

